435 Whitley Way, spoke in opposition to the Elliott's Reserve development and expressed concerns about the builders.

Raquel Villagrana, 435 Whitley Way, spoke in opposition to the Elliott's Reserve development and expressed concerns about the builders.

7. Commissioner Reports & Comments

Commissioner Giles thanked staff for taking action on issues related to the Elliott's Reserve development. He expressed concern about developers removing trees and bushes and emphasized that they are responsible for replacing them. He also complimented the city's two fireworks shows, noting that the Needham's display was spectacular. He watched it from his office due to its close proximity. He also welcomed City Manager Martin back.

Vice Mayor Trivett thanked everyone for attending the meeting and watching online. He spoke about ongoing issues with rain and flooding in the Hickory Hills area, emphasizing the need for developer accountability. He noted that the city team, the commission, and City Manager Martin are actively working on the issue. He expressed appreciation to those who have worked on and spoken about this concern. He highlighted the recent Hometown Hero and Fourth of July events, thanking all the volunteers, Parks staff, committees, and first responders who helped bring the community together. He reminded residents that school is starting soon and urged everyone to watch for school buses. He thanked citizens for their awareness and consideration regarding traffic and expressed appreciation to the city for stepping up. He also welcomed City Manager Martin back and encouraged residents to reach out to him with any concerns.

Commissioner Milele welcomed City Manager Martin back and thanked the residents of Nichols Vale for attending and speaking during the meeting. She emphasized the importance of shopping local to support the city. Commissioner Milele also displayed a chart to explain her reasons for voting against the budget and provided an explanation of the pie chart she presented.

Mayor Maness expressed pride in serving as Mayor and in the efforts made to keep the community safe. He thanked staff for their hard work and acknowledged the difficulty of completing all projects with the resources available. He clarified that the property tax increase was not passed solely to fund the Fire Department, but rather to support enhanced services citywide. He explained that he brought forth the ordinance to establish the Fire Department only after discussions with the county about increasing ambulance coverage resulted in no progress. He emphasized that public safety should not be tied exclusively to the property tax. He commended the Parks Department for their outstanding work on recent events and thanked Public Works and the Police Department for their dedication-especially while working in extreme heat. He also acknowledged the presence of local Scouts at the meeting.

8. City Manager's Report

City Manager Martin thanked everyone for attending the meeting, as well as for the prayers and messages he received. He expressed gratitude to the Board of Commissioners for approving the railroad repair project and noted that residents have been phenomenal throughout recent challenges. He also thanked local businesses and emphasized the importance of shopping local. He stated that Mt. Juliet is a community that takes care of both its young and elderly residents. While acknowledging that staff cannot be everywhere at once, he affirmed that the residents of Mt. Juliet deserve the very best.

Commissioner Giles asked Public Works Director Matt White to speak on the item. Mr. White stated that he preferred the language be changed to “public right-of-way,” as it removes liability concerns for the church. Commissioner Giles agreed with this change.

James Keopf, a representative from the church and resident of 320 Hunters Run Lane, confirmed that the church is aware of the proposal and is in agreement with the change.

City Attorney Burnett recommended that the language be added to the plat and that the amendment be incorporated into the second reading, changing the language from “public access easement” to “public right-of-way” for the greenway.

A motion was made by Commissioner Giles to amend the ordinance and plat to remove “public access easement,” language and replace with “public right-of-way.” Mayor Maness seconded the motion.

With no objections, the amendment passed.

The item proceeded as once amended.
